

Pharma Point is looking for 1 Hematology MSL (field based).

The purpose of the job is to be a therapeutic area Hematology scientific expert, responsible for discussing our products, patients' treatment trends and studies in the therapeutic. Through activities in line with the Medical Affairs Plan, the MSL is jointly responsible for the realization of short-term and long-term company goals.

Responsibilities

- Develop and execute an external stakeholder management plan
- Communicate the value of company products
- Through scientific interactions, champion the medical value of our products fairly based on the risk-benefit profile of our drugs and contribute to the fostering of innovative approaches
- Represent the company to other therapeutic area stakeholders including professional associations and patient organisations
- Communicate non-promotional general information about our company, including pipeline, research and development programs and other relevant information
- Organization and participation in Medical Education activities: Identify/support/educate speakers
- Contribute the pre-launch and launch steps of new products providing scientific support
- Supports medical affairs activities and generation and dissemination of data supporting overall product scientific and business strategy
- Assists with the scientific review, development, approval, execution and communication of affiliate medical affairs sponsored or supported clinical research activities.

Qualifications

- Medical Doctorate (M.D.) degree and Hematology Specialization (is a must)
- Proven leadership skills in a cross-functional team environment
- Good knowledge of clinical trial methodology, regulatory requirements governing clinical trials and experience in development strategy and the design of protocols
- Must possess good oral and written English communication skills

Curricula to: l.cavaliere@pharmapoint.it

Laura Cavaliere

Partner

Pharma Point

Foro Buonaparte, 48 | 20121 Milano

Office +39 02 89013167 | Mobile +39 393 9444292

www.pharmapoint.it