SCIENTIFIC RATIONALE

The growing complexity of oncohematological pathologies and in particular in chronic lymphoproliferative syndromes and lymphomas, combined with the growing availability of new therapeutic opportunities, including immunotherapies, CAR T and new combinations on chronic lymphocytic leukemia, makes it essential to take the point of the care algorithm and experimental currently underway.

The second edition of this important meeting aims to compare professionals from all over the world on the most recent clinical and experimental practices implemented or to be implemented, on the most important and widespread lymphoma pathologies, in order to allow an improvement in the current knowledge of the physicians on the topics covered.

Furthermore, this should lead to a very high level cultural update on lymphoproliferative syndromes, with repercussions on the daily prescriptive appropriateness of individual Italian realities.
